

I am an XM Radio listener. I pay a monthly fee for the services provided to me by XM Radio. My satellite radio provides me a quality and variety that I enjoy very much. The NAB is trying to buy mine and XM Radio's 1st amendment rights because they cannot compete with the quality service XM Radio provides. It's obvious they are trying to limit XM Radio from expanding and providing even greater services. They are afraid of losing advertising dollars. I thought we lived in a free capitalistic society. Don't let the NAB punish them for doing an outstanding job.

Mark Culpepper